

Ways to Volunteer at Bergstrom-Mahler Museum of Glass

1. Associate in The Museum Shop

The Museum Shop is looking for enthusiastic individuals who would enjoy working in a lively and fun retail setting. Though previous retail experience is not necessary, volunteers should feel comfortable working with the public and independently on an occasional weekend or Thursday eve. Approx. time commitment is two 3 or 3.5 hour shifts and one 1 hour training per month.

2. Docent/Tour Guide

As a member of a team of docents, volunteer will conduct guided tours of the museum galleries for small groups of visitors of all ages. Volunteer will commit to training with the Curator of Collections and Exhibitions, and will attend regular docent meetings either in-person or virtually.

3. Curatorial and Collections Records

Volunteer will assist the Curator of Collections and Exhibitions with researching, digitizing, organizing and filing general media, collections and exhibits records. Prior experience with photography and digital scanning is helpful, but not compulsory.

4. Glass Studio-Art Activity Day Support

You will help facilitate hands-on art activities during our Art Activity Days that we hold one Saturday a month. Set up and help families from the fox cities create small non-glass crafts throughout the museum. Or help people create down in the studio. No experience is required except confidence in working with the public.

5. Glass Studio-Studio Support

Help with preparation, facilitation, and clean-up of different glass-based projects. Preparing for glass classes and Art Activity Days require a lot of preparation for smooth running. Learn and practice things like cutting, cleaning and grinding glass. Time commitment: 1-3 hours/week

6. Development and Engagement

Special events need greeters and servers who enjoy meeting with people, as well as people to haul, set up, and clean up. Bakers can also contribute snacks and treats to our events. High school aged students are welcome to help. Occasionally we need people to do simple, repetitive office tasks, such as fold brochures, stuff envelopes, etc.

7. Marketing

Marketing is seeking volunteers who would like to assist in the areas of social media, graphic design, photography, video, and event preparation.

We thank our seasonal sponsors and local community foundations for their support
